Phils Bomb Javery From Box in Seventh

By BILL GRIMES

NATIONAL LEAGUE FIELD, April 22—Before approximately 7500, the 1944 National League season opened this afternoon when the Braves and Phillies met at the Allston Wigwam.

Manager Bob Coleman made some eleventh hour changes in his lineup. Hoping to break the three game losing streak, Coleman seat Al Javery his ace hurler to the mound.

Roland Gladu came up with a sore arm and stepped out in favor of Tommy Ryan. Steve Shemo reported a bad leg and was benched for Ben Geraghty.

And to further complicate matters, Whitey Wietelmann was informed this morning by Dr. Paul Donahue that four more cysts had developed under his right eyelid.

With Ken Raffensberger on the hilltop for the Phillies, Manager Coleman sent Chet Ross to left field in lieu of Butch Nieman.

Before the game, Maj. Bill Cloney put his squads of WAVES, WACs and SPARS through the unsual opening game ceremonies and after the flag-raising by a squad of Marines, Lieut.-Gov. Horace T. Cahill threw out the first ball and the game was on.

Bowman Hurls For Red Sox

PHILADELPHIA, April 22—Joe Bowman, a reformed employe of the Phillies, returned to Shibe Park today as the Red Rox pitcher in the first 1944 American League ball game in Philadelphia.

He was opposed by Bobo Newsom making his first start in Athletics' delivery since his acquisition in a trade with Washington during the winter.

Newsom, who reported to training camp late, pitched only three undistinguished innings during the exhibition tour. About 4000 chilled citizens saw Mayor S. Bernard Samuel throw out the first pitch.

BLOOPER PITCH — Pirates pitcher Rip Sewell's first blooper pitch of the season in a league game is a beaut. Eppie Miller, Cincinnati batter, missed it for a strike, then fouled out to catcher Al Lopez. However, Sewell, who won 21 games last year, lost to Joe Beggs by the score of 4-2. This is a diagrammed high trajectory of the pitch.

Greatest Yank Raids Hit Nazis

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

LONDON, April 24 (AP)—An American sky force approaching 2000 heavy bombers and fighters smashed plane plants and other factories at Friedrichshafen and air fields near Munich today as the German radio told of simultaneous blows by Americans in Romania, indicating perhaps the heaviest coordinated attack of the war.

The assault on German objectives was carried out in good weather which gave the Germans a better chance to challenge these latest blows in the history-making campaign to drive the German air force from the sky.

The German radio said the Americans were engaged in battle even before they crossed the border. Early official American reports did not mention today's losses in the greatest aerial offensive of all time.

TENTH STRAIGHT DAY

The Berlin broadcast said Italy-based bombers penetrated Romania and declared they were met by German and Romanian planes over Serbia and Romania.

"Very strong forces" of American Mustangs, Lightnings and Thunderbolts of the Eighth and Ninth Air Forces as well as RAF Mustangs guarded the heavy bombers from Britain, an American announcement said.

As the campaign by heavy bombers swung into its 10th straight day, Marauder mediums of the Ninth U. S. Air Force struck twice across the channel at targets in France and Belgium.

Other planes shuttled across the channel in morning and afternoon attacks on anti-invasion installations. These raids followed RAF night smashes in Belgium and western Germany.

EVACUATING DRIVE

The Vichy radio said Lille, railroad center in northern France, was being evacuated. The railroad yards have been hit frequently and hard of late, and the city's airfields were among targets of American fighter-bombers yesterday.

Marauders of the Ninth American Air Force, striking twice against targets in France and Belgium, climaxed their heaviest six-day period of activity since they started combat operations from England May 14, 1943.

A-20 light bombers, which recently joined the Marauder forces, took part in several of the record-breaking American Expeditionary Air Force operations.

An Air Ministry communique said British heavy bombers had pounded an important signal equipment depot at Vilvorde, six miles east of Brussels, during the night while Mosquitos lashed at the German industrial center of Mannheim.

Six planes were listed as missing from the overnight operations, which also included mine-laying in enemy waters.

It was the eighth time this month British heavy bombers had been over the continent at night.

Last night's blow on Mannheim was one of the swiftest ever struck. It took only three minutes. "We simply didn't give the defenses a chance," said one pilot.

German planes showered incendiaries on an unidentified town (the Germans said Bristol) along England's southwestern coast last night and early today, setting fire to a number of houses but the damage was officially described as slight. Five of the raiders were shot down.

Allied Gliders Hit Burma Japs

By THOBURN WIANT

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, April 24 (AP)—A complete unit of glider-borne guerrilla fighters, employing fantastic new Allied tactics of infiltration by air, has firmly established a defense box squarely across a north-south railroad deep behind enemy lines in Burma, it was disclosed today.

Allied headquarters, announcing the latest stroke to cut Jap supply lines to Myitkyina, chief enemy base in North Burma, and to their thrust in India, said substantial Allied forces had been flown in to reinforce Chindits already operating over a 100-mile front 200 miles inside Burma.

Meanwhile, the communique indicated old-style Jap infiltration tactics through the jungle were meeting with a decided check in the invasion of India. Announcement said the Kohima-Dimapur road had been cleared and relief of the Kohima garrison was completed, thereby dissipating the enemy threat to the Bengal-Assam railway which feeds American air forces in China.

BALK JAPS IN INDIA

Lean, jungle-trained Scots, Irish and British were flown with their pack mules and supplies by American Commando Air Force gliders on the latest invasion deep inside Burma, said a dispatch from the American glider base.

Latest reports on Jap movements in north central Burma indicated the Japs still were confused by the new landings and had not yet detected where the main force had been concentrated, although the operation was carried out at night six days ago. The defense block across the vital railroad was established without firing a shot.

Heavy fighting continued at scattered positions around Imphal. (A Jap broadcast declared the British were using a "ring formation" to blunt the invasion, with brigades and strong air-transported formations concentrated inside, and with hastily built barricades in Imphal's streets.)

CLEAR KOHIMA ROAD

In the Imphal front, the communique said, Allied troops have cleared the road from Kohima to the Bengal-Assam railway junction of Dimapur and relief of the Kohima garrison has been completed.

Kohima is two-thirds of the way on the road from Imphal to the junction, and the relief of the garrison appeared to have dissipated possibility the Japs would cut the railway pumping supplies to Gen. Stilwell's north Burma

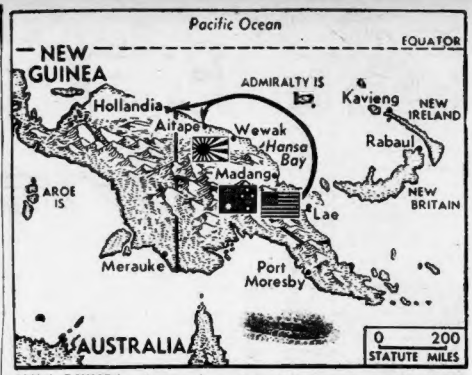
Clearance of the road also solved thes upply problem of the Imphal garrison. Heavy fighting continued at positions scattered around the Imphal, however, parsouthwest.

A fierce engagement was fought yesterday for hill positions on the Palel-Tamu road to the southeast and the Japs succeeded in taking two small hill features, the communique said. Another Jap attack was repulsed in the Bishenpur area of Imphal.

New Carrier Will Slide Ways Saturday

NEW YORK, April 24 (INS)—America's newest aircraft carrier, the U. S. S. Bon Homme Richard, will be launched on Saturday at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Rear admiral Monroe Kelly, commandant of the yard, announced today that the ship, to bear the famous name of the Continental frigate commanded by John Paul Jones, will be a 27,100-ton ship of the Essex class.



NEW GUINEA—Arrows show where American troops landed—near Hollandia and Aitape—in operations which isolate some 140-000 Japs. The airdrome at Aitape has been captured.

Japs Trapped By Invasions

By C. YATES McDANIEL

MacARTHUR'S ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS IN NEW GUINEA, April 24 (AP)—Under cover of tremendous naval and air blasting, thousands of American troops established beachheads at Hollandia and Aitape on the strategic north coast of New Guinea Saturday, and today 60,000 more isolated Japanese faced annihilation.

Gen. MacArthur, who witnessed the operation, termed it Bataan in reverse.

MacArthur's triumphant communique today said 140,000 Japanese troops stretching from New Guinea to the Solomon Islands are thus "neutralized and strategically impotent." These Japanese are all that remain of a force of 250,000 established in these islands for the invasion of Australia.

The 60,000 Japancse are caught between Hollandia and Madang, the other 80,000 are on New Britain, New Ireland and Bougainville.

The Japanese, caught far off base by feints in the direction of Wewak and Madang to the southeast, offered little opposition to the powerful American forces which poured ashore on both sides of Hollandia and at Aitape, 150 miles southeast.

Immediately the Americans drove toward the airdromes at both bases with tractors and bulldozers to make serviceable the excellent airstrips which are a little over 1000 miles from the Philippines—within bomber range.

Gen. MacArthur, intent upon returning to the Philippines from which the Americans withdrew a little more than two years ago, watched the Hollandia landings from the quaking deck of a bombarding cruiser and went ashore with the second wave of troops, which established a beachhead at Tanahmerah Bay west of Hollandia at dawn.

The Aitape landings were preceded by the seizure of Tumleo and Seleo Islands offshore. This brought Aitape itself within artillery range—a tactic reminiscent of that used in the capture of the first Marshall Islands.

The campaign swept the New Guinea front 500 miles up the coast from the Madang sector.

A strong force of warships under Adm. Nimitz participated in the pre-invasion shelling, lending support for the first time to a MacArthur landing operation.

Naval Clash in English Channel

FOLKESTONE, ENGLAND, April 24 (AP)—Sounds of sharp gunfire in the English Channel—apparently denoting a clash between British and German light naval forces—was heard for 30 minutes this morning by residents on the British southeast coast.

(The Berlin radio said German light naval vessels in two clashes with light British craft off Chermourg after midnight had scored "many hits" and two British vessels had been "badly hit." The broadcast also asserted E-boats had sunk a medium-sized steamer off Beachy head, England, last night and had "severely damaged" a British light coastal craft after a two-hour engagement "very close inshore.")

Reds Massing For New Lunge

MOSCOW, April 24 (AP)—The Russians, who in 10 months have lifted the siege of Leningrad, struck into Romania and smashed halfway to Berlin in their 500-mile overland march from Kursk, are massing for a new campaign, front dispatches indicated today.

As a relative calm prevailed along the long front for the second straight day yesterday, dispatches said rearguard services were being moved forward to new bases, required after the winter advance. The pause was expected to be short-lived.

Bombers Smash Mills in Austria

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 24 (AP)—The Allied Mediterranean air arm destroyed 51 enemy planes and lost 12 heavy bombers and five other craft yesterday in 1500 sorties which included heavy bomber assaults on Nazi aircraft factories in Austria, headquarters announced today.

On the ground in Italy, Allied artillery destroyed an ammunition dump in Cassino. Action generally was limited to patrol forays and artillery duels.

Stilwell Bombers Sink Jap Ships

CHUNGKING, April 24 (INS—U. S. Liberator bombers have sunk 20,000 tons of Jap shipping in attacks in the Saigon area of French Indo-China, Gen. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

American bombers in sweeps along the South China coast also shot down two Jap fighter planes. All American planes returned safely.

F. D., Pope's Envoy Grieve for Cardinal

Telegrams of condolence from President Roosevelt, Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States, and President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines, were received today at Cardinal O'Connell's episcopal residence as preparations were being made to remove the prelate's body to the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

BISHOP RICHARD J. CUSHING
Administrator of archdiocese

There, before the altar from which he guided the spiritual destiny of more than 1,000,000 members of his flock, the Catholic statesman will lie in state until his funeral at 10 a. m. Friday.

The telegrams from Presirent Roosevelt, Archbishop Cicognani and President Quezon arrived before the procession formed at 3 p. m. to accompany the dead prelate fro mthe diocesan house to the cathedral.

WIRE FROM PRESIDENT

Addressed to Bishop Richard J Cushing, elected administrator to take charge of the diocese until a new archbishop is named by the Pope, the Roosevelt telegram said

"I am deeply sorrowful to learn of the passing of the venerable figure of Cardinal O'Connel, prelate and prince of the church.

"With rare gifts of leadership, he served his day and generation with fidelity, steadfastness and true opostolic zeal.

May I, through you, offer to his flock, which has lost its shepherd, this assurance of my heartfelt sympathy."

PAPAL ENVOY'S WORDS

Archbishop Cicognani's message, likewise sent to Bishop Cushing, said:

"Our venerable Cardinal Archbishop's death fills me with heartfelt sorrow and inspires me with genuine sympathy for the bereaver clergy, religious and laity of the archdiocese of Boston.

"I join with them in prayers that his noble soul may find in Heaven the glorious reward of his zealous life and, from Heaven, may continue to bless the flock he loved so well."

President Quezon said in his telegram:

"In behalf of the Filipino people and my own, may I express to you and the people of Boston my sympathy on the death of His Eminence, Cardinal O'Conell?

LOSS TO CHURCH, N. E.

"In him the church has lost one of its most illustrious Cardinals and New England a beloved father and leader.

"May our Lord grant him eternal reward he so richly deserves."

A short time before the solemn procession from Brighton to the Cathedral with the Cardinal's body was scheduled to start, at 3 p. m., police changed the route to facilitate its progress.

The new route was drawn from Lake st., along Commonwealth ave. to Dartmouth st., across Copley sq. and again into Dartmouth st. on the south side, across Columbus ave., Warren ave. and Tremont st., into West Dedham st., to Washington st., to Harrison ave,. to Union Park st. and the Cathedral.

Bishop Cushing was designated to meet the body at the Cathedral entrance and escort it to its place before the altar where, throughout this week until the funeral, the faithful of Cardinal O'Connell's flock, as well as many friends and admirers not of his fold, will pay their respects.

CHANGE IN TRAFFIC

An area about the Cathedral will be closed to traffic in order that the cars bearing the clergy and buses bringing school children and church societies may be free to enter and leave. These restrictions on traffic will continue to the day of the funeral.

The closed areas will be Waltham and East Brookline sts., and Washington st. and Harrison ave. Deputy Supt. Edward W. Fallon said additional areas will be closed if conditions justify such action.

Bearers at the Cathedral this afternoon will be: Frederick A. Carroll, Bartholomew A. Brickley, Dr. Fred A. Good, Chief Justice John B. Higgins, Emmet Logue, Frederick W. Mansfield, Dr. James P. O'Hare, Richard Shaw, Judge John E. Swift, David I. Walsh, James H. Carney, Gen. F. V. Logan and Dr. Michael E. McGarty.

From 3:30 p. m. today, half an hour before the public is admitted until 9 a. m. Friday, an hour before funeral services begin, a guard of honor composed of fourth degree Knights of Columbus, policemen and firemen will be stationed at the body in the Cathedral.

This guard will be maintained night and day, with eight men on duty at a time in two-hour watches. There will be four men in the police detail and four firemen.

At Regis College, Weston, tomorrow, 500 students will assist in a 9:30 a. m. high mass of requiem for repose of the soul of the prelate. The Rev. Edward T. Harrington, college chaplain, will be celebrant and music will be by the college choir of 25 voices.

Classes at St. Regis have been cancelled on Thursday and Friday.

The protests were made unofficially, since the United States has withheld recognition of the new government in Buenos Aires.

Ring Grips Axis, Sea Chief Says

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 24 (INS)—Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet, declared today that the "encirclement of Germany is in sight," and asserted that American forces now are strong enough in the Pacific to threaten attack on the Marianas, the Carolines and the Kuriles.

The statements were made by the fleet chief in a 50,000-word report on the war to Secretary of the Navy Knox. It was King's first detailed report.

"The German submarine fleet has been reduced from a menace to a problem," King said. "The encirclement of Germany is in sight . . . the situation in the European theater is increasingly desperate for the Axis . . ."

In his summary, King said "we can look back with satisfaction on the progress of the war to date and with just pride in the part played therein by the United States."

"The German structure of satellite states is crumbling," the Admiral continued. "Italy has fallen and is a battlefield in which 20 German divisions are taking heavy punishment. Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland are weakening. The Balkans are aflame with guerilla war, and other occupied countries await only the signal."

He warned that both in Europe and in the Pacific long roads still lie ahead for the Allies.

"But we are now fully entered on those roads, fortified with unity, power and experience, imbued with confidence and determined to travel far and fast to victory," he added.

Hop-Off Port Like Beehive

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JR.
Publisher, New York Journal American

ALGIERS, April 24—After breakfast in camp I went to Lieut Vaneck's combination office and sleeping quarters for news about the departure of my boat—wherever I was going. He told me in a general way what the set-up was.

We could be here, he guessed, for four or five days, and he gave me a mimeographed list of things I would have to do before sailing.

The list included checking our papers, and teeth, and general health, and also whether we had received a sufficient number and variety of the serums and injections required for the theater of war to which we were heading.

Also we were instructed to obtain a gas mask, a tin hat, a canteen, a musette, a little medical kit and dogtags.

As each operation required visiting a separate distant building and on foot, the job took on somewhat the nature of a treasure hunt and required a full day to complete.

By late afternoon we were finished in more ways than one, so when Van suggested dinner at the Officers' Club he had an eager customer.

As the baggage officer of a camp which deals only in transients, he is the busiest and one of the most competent individuals I have met.

VISITS GENERAL

Shortly after breakfast I was summoned to the office of the colonel in charge of the camp and told that Brig.-Gen. Reed Kilpatrick wanted to see me at his headquarters at the port of embarkation. Gen. Kilpatrick was formerly head of Madison Square Garden and is an old friend of mine. He is now commanding general in these parts.

I lunched with his aides, Lieut. Alexis Thompson and Lieut. Horace Kelland, both pals from New York. "Lex" owns the Philadelphia professional football team and "Ho" is the son of Clarence Budington Kelland.

Just being away from camp was treat enough but when the general said that if I wished I could stay with "Lex" and "Ho" until sailing, I "allowed as to how" I could not wish for anything better. And so it was.

That was Saturday. "Lex" said we could not sail until Monday so we went to the movies that night and slept at a little cottage he and a couple of friends had rented in the country.

TOURS BIG PORT

Next morning, the general took me on a tour of inspection about the big port. Though it was Sunday, work was going on as usual. The docks were piled high with supplies of all sizes and descriptions and were swarming with men and women stevedores.

In these shipments were food, medical supplies, ammunition, drums of gasoline and oil, trucks, Jeeps, ambulances, Bulldozers, everything from jelly beans to thousand pound aerial bombs.

I traipsed along after the general, taking in everything, when suddenly I heard him say, "this is your ship, Bill. She's new and fast and I'm sure you'll have a good trip in her."

READY TO SAIL

I had forgotten that tomorrow for me meant somewhere out at sea headed across the Atlantic Ocean.

How many days we would be on her no one knew, nor for that matter even where we were going to land. I felt a bit homesick when I realized that this day was my eleventh wedding anniversary.

Van was a paragon of efficiency. He had so arranged that everything in his department moved like clockwork — including myself. I told my friends goodby and went aboard.

There was a good sized band blaring away right below us on the dock and over and above the strains of "Shoo, Shoo Baby, Your Pappy's Off to the Seven Seas" we shouted out farewells and got under way.

Vets See Danger Of Shackling Bill

By FRANK REILLY
Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 24 — As the House committee on veterans' legislation, headed by Cong. John E. Rankin of Mississippi, resumed its deliberations today on the "G-I bill or rights," supporters of the measure voiced growing concern over the possibility that the long-awaited legislation may be tampered with and shackled.

In view of Rankin's last-minute opposition to certain sections of the bill, which until now has advanced smoothly toward enactment, drastic and weakening amendments to the measure are seen almost inevitable.

If Cong. Rankin succeeds in having these changes made, even though the majority of the House membership wants the bill passed as soon as possible, it would eventually have to go to a conference committee for further discussion and delay.

As Chairman Rankin's group met this morning, it appeared a certainty that he and a few of his key assistants would succeed in changing the unemployment compensation provisions of the "bill of rights."

National Comdr. Warren H. Atherton of the American Legion and spokesmen for the Veterans of Foreign Wars have promised they will fight any attempt of Rankin to alter the bill as it stands.

Meanwhile the members of the House are becoming restless and demanding action. Pressure is being applied privately by congressmen on members of the committee to get the bill to the House floor.

3 N. E. Fliers Down Nazis Over Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 24 (AP) — Among fighter pilots credited with victories over German planes in air battles above Italy yesterday were Lieut. Carol A. Trybiye, Walpole, N. H.; Lieut. Frank J. Gerry, Hartford, Ct., and Lieut. Julian G. Demers, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

FIREMEN FIGHT NEPONSET COAL YARD FIRE AS IT SPREADS TO BOAT YARD
Oil Tank Threatened by Flames is Wetted Down as Many Flee Big Blaze

$300,000 Yard Fire Brings Wide Probe

With crews of firemen on guard against a possible rekindling of flames, Boston fire officials and inspectors from the state fire marshal's office today probed the cause of the five-alarm, $300,000 blaze which swept the Frost Coal & Oil Co. and an adjoining yacht yard at the Boston end of the Neponset bridge.

In less than 10 minutes after the fire broke out, apparently in a pile of coal in the Frost Co.'s main shed, the three-story block-long structure was an inferno of flames and raging smoke, threatening scores of homes and buildings in the vicinity.

Flames leaped a 20-foot roadway to set afire scores of pleasure yachts being painted and repaired for spring use in the Lockery & Butts boat yard.

As the fire reached the vessels' gasoline tanks, explosions could be heard. Soon all but less than half a dozen of the 200 boats, large and small, in the yacht yard were flaming ruins.

Embers started roof fires on several nearby dwellings as well as the Stearns Lumber Co., O. G. Kelly welding plant and Blakeslee-Rollins Co., contractors. Fire Chief Samuel G. Pope ordered 20 families in Taylor, Philip, Oakman and Rice sts. to evacuate their homes when for a time the fire seemed likely to cotinue spreading out of control.

South Shore trains were halted by hose lines across the New Haven tracks at the scene of the blaze. Eastern Mass. street car service over Neponset bridge was disrupted, making the use of a bus shuttle service necessary.

Six firemen were injured by glass or protruding metal objects as they battled the flames. Hoseman Thomas H. Kelley, attached to Engine 17 of Boston, required hospital treatment of severe arm lacerations.

STOCKHOLM, April 22 (AP)—Russian peace terms have been rejected for a second time after "taking into account the future of this country," the Finnish government informed the nation last night in a communique issued at Helsinki.

Tax Change

TROY, N. Y., April 24—A year ago a New York businessman passing through Troy saw USO workers feed soldiers on trains. He sent the USO Lounge a check for $100.

The Lounge has just received another message from him. It read:

"I paid my federal income tax. I paid my state income tax. I bought some war bonds. Then I had $104.97 left over so I said to myself: 'What the hell good is $104.97?

"So I enclose my check for $100 for ladies who get up before daybreak to feed soldiers."

7 Changes in Price Act Urged in House

By TOM REEDY

WASHINGTON,, April 24 (AP)—Seven major changes in the nation's price control and stabilization program were advocated today by the Smith committee of the House—OPA's severest critic in Congress.

A rewritten price control act containing the recommendations was filed by the group assigned to investigate whether government agencies exceed their authority. It is headed by Rep. Smith (D.) of Virginia.

A minority report concurred in some of the proposals but differed sharply in others. The majority plan suggested:

1—Writing the President's hold-the-line freeze of wages and prices as of Sept. 15, 1942, into the price control law.

2—A curb on the powers of the War Labor Board.

3—Abolition of damages OPA can impose on a price violator and substituting maximum $50,000 penalty.

4—Abolition of OPA authority to order sanctions without court review.

5—Required publication of executive orders, regulations and directives in Federal Register.

6—Relaxation of certain rent controls.

7—Broader court review powers over OPA and WLB orders.

The majority report was signed by Reps. Smith, Peterson (D) Hartley (R) and Hoffman (R). Rep. Jennings (D) agreed with a reservation of "an open mind" about writing the stabilization order nito the price control act.

Comb Swamps for Clue To Mystery 'Girl in Red'

Woods and swamps in South Braintree, in the vicinity of the double shooting which claimed the lives of Charles V. Lisitano, Boston taxi driver, and Howard J. Smith, a sailor, last Thursday, were searched by police today in their effort to find some trace of the "girl in red" believed to have witnessed at least one of the slayings.

Along Washington st., Route 37 to Holbrook and Brockton, are small bodies of water or patches of undergrowth which investigators say may possibly reveal some fragment of clothing or other clue to the whereabouts of a 37-year-old woman who has been mysteriously missing since the shootings.

KNOWN BY CABMAN

According to Police Chief John J. Heaney of Braintree, the young woman, a divorcee and mother of two, was acquainted with Lisitano, because it has been determined that the cab driver was engaged by her to take her home from Boston Garden six weeks ago.

A sailor and a woman of her description, wearing a bright red coat trimmed with fur, were seen entering Lisitano's taxi in Chinatown less than an hour before the machine plunged through a South Braintree fence with Lisitano dead at the wheel, a bullet hole through his head.

Positive proof has been given police by residents of the neighborhood that a girl fled screaming from the wrecked taxicab.

FOUND IN FIELD

Whether she was pursued by a sailor or some one else who was also a passenger of the cab is not known.

Several hours later, nearly a mile and a half away, in a field 100 feet off the same street, the body of Smith, the sailor, was found.

His head likewise had been pierced by a bullet. He died at Weymouth Hospital without regaining consciousness. A gun, used in killing both men, lay at his side. Navy authorities said the weapon was removed illegally from a vessel in Boston harbor.

MARY BRYDGES MULLIGAN
Annulment Case Up Today

Girl Renews Fight for Hubby

Spectators gathered in Middlesex Probate Court today to listen to 17-year-old Mary Ann Brydges Mulligan's fight to regain her husband, Joseph Patrick Mulligan, Jr., 16, were disappointed when Judge John C. Leggat ordered that the hearing be held in the privacy of his chambers.

Mary Ann sought to have her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patrick Mulligan, Sr., release the youthful mate, claiming he was being held "prisoner" at the Mulligan's Somerville home.

Her in-laws petitioned for annulment of their son's marriage to Mary Ann which took place Feb. 26 at Town Gates, N. Y.

Mary Ann and Joseph, Jr., did not appear in the courtroom but went directly to the judge's chambers, accompanied by their parents and attorneys.

Ward Union Acts On F. D. Order

CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—A union meeting scheduled for 11 a. m. today was expected to comply with President Roosevelt's request to end "forthwith" the strike at Montgomery Ward's mail order house, but company officials gave no indication of their action.

President Roosevelt yesterday dispatched telegrams to Sewell Avery, Ward president, and Samuel Wolchok, president of the striking United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes Union, asking that the strike be ended by noon tomorrow.

The President said, "I call upon the union forthwith to terminate its strike. I call upon the company's management forthwith to comply with the War Labor Board's directive so that an orderly and fair election may be conducted."

Dropped on Way To Hospital, Dies

James McCarthy, 31, of O st., South Boston, died of head injuries at City Hospital today, after two former Deer Island inmates told police they had found him injured in the South End and had dropped him several times while carrying him to the hospital.

Booked as suspicious persons and under questioning by police were David Bennett, 25, of East Fifth st., South Boston, and Maurice Renehan of Dorchester, who gave a relative's address.

The two men were booked after telling contradictory stories. One said they found McCarthy on Massachusetts ave. The other placed the spot in West Concord st. They agreed they had found McCarthy lying in the street and said a pedestrian helped boost him to their shoulders.

They acknowledged they had been drinking, police said, and stated they had dropped the unconscious man several times on the way to the hospital. McCarthy was found to have suffered a fractured skull and concussion.

Enraged Girl Hands Flynn Egg Shampoo

HOLLYWOOD, April 24 (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn, for whom jabs by fist and fork have climaxed more than one screenland party, had an egg for his latest scramble.

Toby Tuttle, 23-year-old entertainer, says she gave it to him—even broke it. On top of his head.

It happened at the Mocambo night club early yesterday, she told a reporter, after an unidentified woman made a slighting remark and then proceeded to scratch at Miss Tuttle's eyes and bite her neck.

"Mr. Flynn just stood there and let her," she related yesterday at her Beverly Hills home. "I got so mad that I grabbed an egg from a passing waiter's tray and let him have it. I think I even rubbed it in a little bit."

Said Flynn: "I didn't have any idea what it was all about. I just got in the way of the egg."

The actor said he was seated at a table when a girl—he's not sure who she was—came up and said something. Then Miss Tuttle approached and asked the girl:

"Who do you think you are—Elsa Maxwell?"

"Just then," said Flynn, "a fellow came from the bar and asked me what the squabble was I was mixed up in. I said I wasn't mixed up in any squabble."

Whereupon, Flynn continued, a voice announced: "Well, you are now." And with that the egg smashed down on his head.

Miss Tuttle's scratched face was treated at an emergency hospital."

MEDFORD MEMORIAL

One of the most moving memorials to the Cardinal took place yesterday at St. Joseph's Church, Medford, where he began his priestly duties more than half a century ago as a curate.

On the same altar where His Eminence celebrated mass as a young priest, Msgr. Charles A. Finn, present pastor, mourned the prelate's passing at morning masses.

"He will be remembered with affection and love for his great zeal and the personal qualities he manifested throughout his life," Msgr. Finn said, addressing his parishioners.

High mass at Holy Cross Cathedral, with the church filled with the Cardinal's own parishioners, was impressively solemn and sad. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. William Daley, diocesan superintendent of schools, and the seminariar class from St. John's Seminary, with the Cathedral Boys' Choir, sang the Cardinal's favorite hymns.

Bridges Raps F. D. On Palestine Issue

Special to Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, April 24—Assailing the Roosevelt Administration for its policy of evading a commitment on the Palestine "White Paper," Senator Styles Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, speaking before the New Zionist Organization of America, described the Palestine question as a test of America's post-war policy towards small nations.

"The struggle for a Jewish Palestine is a part of the world-wide crusade to achieve an international order in which there shall be security for small nations," Sen. Bridges said.

"We cannot close our eyes to the challenge of Palestine without doing outrage to the whole cause which we fight in this war. If we make a moral surender in Palestine, we shall have weakened ourselves incalculably.

Occasion for the dinner meeting was the commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the British-American treaty of 1924 which guaranteed no change by Britain in the status of mandated area in Palestine without the consent of the United States.

Quincy Howe, radio commentator, introduced as speakers Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, Congresswoman Clare Booth Luce of Connecticut, former Ambassadors Hugh Gibson and William Bullitt and Col. Morris J. Mendelson, president of the new Zionist Organization of America.

Expressing the opinion that the importance of moral weapons is being ignored in this war, Bridges recalled that in World War I the United States from the day of its entry was the articulate voice of Allied war aims.

"The logic of the moment calls for a clear enunciation by America of a just and workable foreign policy. Too long we have remained in the dark concerning the pledges and obligations which have been made for us at Cairo and Teheran."

Roosevelt Expected to Run Again If Health Permits

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, April 24 (INS)—President Roosevelt's closest advisers are authority today for the statement that he has not yet made up his mind whether to seek 16 years in the White House.

The same sources are authority too for the statement that Mr. Roosevelt has expressed no final choice as yet on a running mate if he should decide to run.

Mr. Roosevelt's advisers themselves are not yet agreed on the choice of a vice presidential nominee.

The President is pictured as waiting until after the Republicans hold their convention in June before reaching a decision. It is said there are three vital factors which will influence his decision on running again. They are;

1—The state of his health.

2—The state of the war in Europe.

3—The state of international affairs as they affect the future peace of the world.

Mr. Roosevelt is portrayed as tired of the confinement of the White House and personally hoping he will be able to retire next January from the great burdens of the presidency. It is said he is aware of the Republican trend in many sections of the country and realizes he must make a campaign of personal appearances if he accepts renomination and hopes to win.

Consequently, the President will not accept a fourth nomination unless he feels physically fit for a strenuous campaign.

If the President's health is good and the war in Europe is progressing satisfactorily, there remains the factor of future world peace.

Pennsylvania, Kentucky Contests Tomorrow

By the Associated Press

Top runners in the presidential nomination contests — President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York—face mild challenges this week.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, is making a bid in Kentucky tomorrow for some of that state's 22 convention representatives.

There were signs that the state convention, which will complete the slate tomorrow night, will support Gov. Simeon S. Willis as a "favorite son" candidate.

Tomorrow also will find Pennsylvania Democrats selecting a delegation of 72 pledged to President Roosevelt.

Light Vote Here Due Tomorrow

Extremely light balloting in tomorrow's Massachusetts Presidential primaries was predicted today by political leaders, with several estimating the total votes cast would not exceed 120,000, or approximately one-twentieth of the State's registered voters.

Absence of several hundred thousand men and women in armed forces, the busy schedules of millions engaged in war work, and lack of interest except in seven Congressional districts where there is a Democratic battle over the Fourth Term, were cited as reasons for the anticipated light vote. A total of 2,450,000 ballots have been printed and distributed to the State's 351 cities and towns.

Voters will name the delegates and alternates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions in Chicago, and will decide the makeup of state, city, town and ward committees for both parties. All 12 Democratic and seven Republican delegates-at-large are unopposed and unpledged.

AP to Fight U. S. Control of News

NE WYORK, April 24 (AP)—The board of directors of the Associated Press declared in its annual report today that the AP would "resist to the utmose every effort to bring about government control of news."

Discussing the appeal it ordered to the U. S. Supreme Court from the decision in the government's anti-trust suit against the AP, nonprofit newspathering cooperative, the board said:

"Only by the maintenance of a free and independent press can Democratic institutions survive. If the government can control the news, its power is unlimited."

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be caused, in some cases, by excessive acids within the body.

Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Texans Scorn Court, Bar Vote to Negroes

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

DALLAS, Tex., April 24 (AP)—Dallas county Democrats have decided to bar members of the Mongolian, Malayan and "Ethiopian or Negro" races from voting in the precinct presidential conventions May 6. Today, Texas anthropologists indicated it will take a Solomon to determine just who will vote.

Dr. Asa C. Chandler, head of the biology department, Rice Institute, Houston, said "election officials probably will run into a great deal of difficulty in deciding eligibility."

Dr. S. W. Geiser, professor of biology, Southern Methodist University, Dallas, declared: "In some cases it is impossible to look at a man and determine his race."

Dr. E. C. Webb, professor of religion at SMU and an authority on anthropology, said "Chinese, Filipinos and Hawaiians can't vote, even with poll tax."

But W. S. Bramlett, chairman of the Dallas County Democratic committee, said the question of an applicant's race would be "just a detail handled by election judges."

On the heels of a U. S. Supreme Court decision holding Negroes cannot be barred from Texas Democratic primaries, the executive committee over the week-end adopted its race-barring resolution. Bramlett stated it would "make the Democratic party of the county independent of the statutes in deciding eligibility of participants."

"American Indians will be allowed to participate," he said.

Commented Dr. Chandler: "The American Indian is recognized as a Mongolian. Best authorities agree Indians came across the Bering Strait from Asia to North America."

Boston Girls End Iceland USO Tour

By JEANETTE SMITS

NEW YORK April 24 (INS)—Icelandic girls are beautiful and dress in the height of style.

But four young American actresses sent by USO-camp shows brought vast excitement to the GI's there.

The girls looked like home and "smelled" like home.

"Gee" breathed one private noting the perfume, "that's an American smell."

Betty McCabe of Boston was one of the girls who presented shows in Iceland.

Three of the four actresses just back after six months in Iceland told about it today.

"The boys thin kand talk about home," said Miriam Stovall of Vienna, Ga. "They mention things they like, such as ripe, red tomatoes and heads of lettuce."

"They treated us like queens," said Parker McCormick of New York city and Molly Dodd of Hollywood.

Drive for Paper Pushed in Files

Many Boston offices are repositories for countless tons of high-grade waste paper, in the form of old letters, books and records no longer of value, which is vitally needed for the manufacture of war goods containers, George C. Wiswell, chairman of the special salvage committee of the Advertising Club of Boston, declared today.

On May 1, the Advertising Club, in conjunction with the Boston Salvage Committee and War Production Board, will launch an office "clean-out" drive scheduled to last 20 days.

"Most of this paper, filed away in downtown offices, is now utterly useless," Wiswell declared. "It is merely serving to make permanent waste baskets of filing cabinets, when our country sorely needs it for war purposes."

He said a survey of numerous offices, conducted by an official of the National Office Management Ass'n, disclosed that few business concerns follow any standard method of classifying essential and "dead" paper in their files, in order to dispose of useless pamphlets and papers.

Draper Program Attracts Leaders

MRS. EBEN S. DRAPER'S gift for music has been a morale builder in two wars. In 1918 she went overseas to sing entertaining songs to American doughboys. This time she is composing and singing her own songs for the benefit of United Nations Relief Fund.

Last evening she presented the first entire program of her own compositions. Some of the gay tuneful melodies she played herself as soloist with 35 Boston Symphony musicians. Others she interpreted in monologue style, accompanying herself at the piano, and several others were sung by Camille Girouard, baritone. Paul Cherkassky conducted the orchestra. The program girls in United Nations costumes, added to the festivity of the benefit.

Wife of Col. Eben S. Draper of Hopedale, this tiny energetic musician won wide applause for her talented performance.

Sharing a front box with Col. Draper were Gov. and Mrs. Saltonstall. The first lady wore a simple black dinner gown with diamond clips at the neckline.

* * *

ALL THE YOUNGER members of the audience were trying to see what Connie Bradlee was wearing because this 20-year-old Boston post-deb is junior fashion editor of Vogue. She was home from Gotham for the week-end and had front row seats with her Dad. Her dress was one of those popular black evening shorties with tiny cap sleeves of chartreuse crepe.

Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell accented a gay spring print with amethyst drop earrings and a pearl necklace tied in back with amethyst velvet ribbon. Hard-working committee member, Mrs. Bartlett Harwood, just back from Hot Springs, wore a most becoming peacock blue gown with diamond clips and Mrs. William B. Pratt's gown had lustrous pink satin bows down the back.

At intermission Mrs. Albert C. Burrage chatted across the aisle with Mrs. James Parker (Isabel Lawrence) and Mrs. S. H. Wolcott, Jr., in melon pink with a white pique yoke attended with Juliet Richardson Kellogg whose hair was clipped with turquoise jewels.

The PRIME of LIFE Can Be Prolonged

DR. HENRY C. SHERMAN SAYS:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher norm of adult health, and a longer lease of what we may call the prime of life, the period between maturity and old age.

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old age at 40, 50, 60 or over arrives when the body no longer builds new cells to replace old cells as fast as they wear out. Plenty of Calcium, an important element in cell building, helps fight the onset of OLD AGE and PROLONG THE PRIME OF LIFE as it helps build new body cells

ARE MY NAILS BRITTLE?

Calcium is an essential mineral in the nails, bones and teeth, fully as essential as it is for the soft tissues. A Calcium deficiency does not always react in the same manner in different people—in some it may cause weak, soft, brittle nails that break and split easily.

Food rationing may not supply sufficient calcium says Claude Wickard, U. S. Sec. of Agriculture

Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. Calcium deficiency, a form of malnutrition, may be a cause of acidity, nervousness, fatigue, weak heart muscle and other effects that hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

A generous supply of Calcium with Phosphorus and Vitamin D is required for the normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance that is essential to health. Calcium, antacid and reconstructive, is needed in the growth and repair of organs, glands, cells and tissues.

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A mineral starved body tires easily. Minerals are necessary for normal strength, energy and vitality. Calcium is one of the most important of these constructive forces. A Calcium starved body cannot retain normal strength, energy and vitality, therefore tires easily.

AM I NERVOUS?

High tension and sleeplessness or ragged, jagged, jumpy nerves may be due to a Calcium deficiency which disturbs the parathyroid glands, causing intense sensitivity of the nervous system. KAL is rich in Calcium Phosphorus and Vitamin D and B1, all in splendid proportions.

CALCIUM — PHOSPHORUS
VITAMIN D — VITAMIN B1

Calcium, Phosphorus and Vitamin D—all three are required together in good proportion for the body to properly absorb Calcium for retention and use. Vitamin B1, an important factor in metabolism, is valuable in association with Calcium, Phosphorus and Vitamin D. KAL is dependably rich in these elements and furnishes them in fine proportion. Add KAL to your daily diet, see how much better you feel after KAL helps you overcome a deficiency of these essentials and helps you maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance.

Lest We Forget—This week, America observes Kindness to Animals Week . . . seven days in the midst of war to be dedicated to those dumb friends that too often are abandoned by unthinking owners. But not all pets are forgotten . . . here's Ellen Furey, 6, of Roxbury, saying a prayer with Jeff at Angell Memorial Hospital . . . a prayer for less lucky dogs. (If you must give up your pet, call the Animal Rescue League. Maybe they can find a home for it.)

It's Love, Love, Love—Here's a case of love at first sight . . . the meeting of a boy and a dog. The dog's just a stray, brought to the Angell Memorial Hospital, but the boy in love is Bobby Venti, three years old, of Morley st., Roxbury. And that kiss binds a bargain.

Sympathy

While little Sussie Greenan, two years old, doesn't remember her toothing days, she still has lots of sympathy for Big Boy, bird dog pet she took to the Angell Memorial Hospital for dental care. "Still hurt?" she asks.

Cardinal O'Connell

"VERY FEW families in our nation have been spared the heartache of separation from loved ones who have been called to the defense of our country.

"Into some houses tragedy has already entered and the hand of death and sorrow will reach, alas, into many more before the final victory and peace are won.

"Christ, the Man of Sorrows, drank the cup of suffering to its bitter dregs. His Blessed Mother, standing at the foot of the Cross, shared to the full the terrible anguish of her Divine Son.

"But their suffering was crowned with happiness; their apparent defeat became certain victory when the radiant sun of that first Easter shone on the empty tomb from which Christ, the Son of God, had risen glorious and triumphant.

"In these days of national trial we need the lesson of courage and hope which the great Feast of Easter teaches.

"If we are to conquer sorrows and adversity we must follow ever more closely the example of Christ and His Blessed Mother.

"We must face suffering with courage, accept it with resignation to the Will of God, and through His grace and holy assistance conquer it."

THAT WAS the message William Cardinal O'Connell addressed to the nation and world one year ago.

It was inspired by the celebration of Easter, which fell on an unwontedly late date in 1943.

Today Cardinal O'Connell is dead, his hand no longer raised in benediction. his voice silenced forever.

BUT HIS WORDS LIVE ON.

Throughout this horrible war, which has brought grief into almost every home in the land, those words will be read and remembered.

They will sustain fathers and mothers whose sons in khaki, blue and green are called away to battle on land and sea.

They will console those who are told a loved one has made the supreme sacrifice.

Such a legacy of Christian hope and faith was worthy of Cardinal O'Connell.

Throughout his long and supremely useful life he was concerned with the needs and welfare of other persons.

His love for humanity was the foundation of his greatness, and it suffused his every work.

It built chapels and churches in hundreds of communities close to the homes of communicants.

It established great hospitals for the care of the sick, the needy and the aged.

It founded schools for the education and spiritual enlightenment of youth.

It sponsored and encouraged the support of civic institutions like the Community Chest and similar provenly worth-while activities.

And it inspired the prelate's consistently vigorous and effective opposition to such harmful "modernist" practices as birth control and the usurpation of parental rights and prerogatives.

IN HIS EULOGY of Cardinal O'Connell, the Rev. Dr. Joshua Loth Liebman of Temple Israel said:

"He has been a tremendous force for good in our State and Nation for many decades.

"All who mourn him may take consolation from the thought of the Jewish sages of old that 'the righteous, even in death, are called living'."

We too believe that Cardinal O'Connell will be "called living" as long as our generation remains.

His friends will miss his face and the sound of his footsteps.

BUT THEY CANNOT AND WILL NOT MISS THE FORCE OF HIS GOODNESS.

It is indelibly stamped on the monuments he raised to the honor and glory of God; on the pages of books he prepared for posterity; on the hearts of the millions of Catholics, Protestants and Jews whom he taught to eschew bigotry, hatreds and intolerance and to embrace the Godly principles of brotherhood and fellowship.

A few years before his passing, Cardinal O'Connell said with modest pride:

"I have been told by representatives of other faiths that I have done much to bring about a more harmonious feeling among those of opposite races and creeds.

"As priest, bishop and cardinal I have worked for harmony.

"Old differences are dead or dying fast.

"I have lived to see our people come to a better understanding."

In life tolerance brought him joy.
In death it brings him everlasting honor.

WASHINGTON, April 24—One of the last things told me by my Aunt Rhoda, just before she was burned as a witch, was:

"If you want to keep your self-respect, never take money from a woman!"

Well, I guess I have burned my last shred of self-respect because I have just taken $5 from Clare Boothe Luce.

Although it came in the form of a check, and checks can be traced, I am going to cash it anyway. A couple of my richer colleagues, one being Dave Sentner, suggested it would be nice to frame as a souvenir, but I cannot afford any five-buck souvenirs.

Furthermore, if it is a question of just framing something, I would rather frame a lock of Mrs. Luce's hair, or maybe a snapshot with the inscription: "In memory of our first Sunday school picnic."

Inasmuch as I have not a vestige of shame—the coat and pants maybe, but not the vestige—in taking the finnif (CQ), I will relate the entire story of how the beauteous Congresswoman from Connecticut came to kick through.

LAST FEBRUARY 18, I visited her in her sanctum in the new House Office Building and discovered she was quite upset. Advices had reached her, she said, that she was not to be a delegate to the Republican National Convention.

"They say I am a woman," she said—which seemed reasonably obvious from where I sat. "And they tell me I am to be passed over because convention delegating is man's work."

"That is outrageous," I agreed. "Woman's place is in the convention."

Mrs. Luce said she thought so, too. I tried to take her on my knee to comfort her, but it seems Mrs. Luce has definite views about dignity of Congresswomen and declined the offer cold turkey.

"Do not despair." I said.

CLARE BOOTHE LUCE
Pays Bet—Happy She Lost It

"This is not final. In fact, I will bet you that you will be picked as a delegate."

I will admit, frankly, that I didn't know what I was talking about, and only said it to make her feel better. But she pounced on it.

"I will bet you $5 I don't make it," she said.

Well, I couldn't go back on my offer after that. But I felt I had been taken for a sucker.

Consequently, you can imagine how good I felt last week when J. Kenneth Bradley, Connecticut's State Republican chairman, announced in Hartford that Mrs. Luce would be a delegate. I don't mind admitting that I am a very poor winner. I gloat.

Today I received Mrs. Luce's contribution to the Dixon support, and with it this letter:

"Dear George:

"In 'Hudibras' Sam Butler says:

"'I've heard old Cutting Stagers

On the Side . . . .

The more you know
The more luck you will have.
—CONFUCIUS.

IN THE LIVING ROOM of my ranch, when I get a ranch, there will be a huge fireplace. Over the fireplace I hope to have a few observations such as the above in the hope my guests and I will give them careful consideration when in that meditative mood a wood fire inspires . . . What is the percentage of the married who have twin beds? It must be very high. Sheraton, the British furniture designer, originated twin beds. I forget the date of this memorable invention. So offhand I can't say what anniversary of the invention of twin beds this year is. Judge Frank Donohue of Chicago recently observed: "The invention, innovation or introduction of twin beds has caused more dissensions, distrust and disunity resulting in divorce than any other single factor."

PASSING BY: James Gleason. Whimsical Thespian. It now seems he is the logical candidate for president of the Hollywood Always Club. Eligible to this organization are film colony notables who have been married but once. Mr. Gleason has been married to the same charming woman for 38 years . . . Al Trace. Bandmaster. There is no doubt he is the man responsible for the excessive popularity of that ditty titled "Mairzy Doats." Al plugged this song 20 times on the air before it was even published.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. If you can't tell by the wrapper whether a cigar is strong or mild, how can you tell? A. The thicker a cigar around the middle, the stronger it is. The thin cigars, like the panatela, are mild. If the smoke of a cigar is white it is usually a good cigar; if the smoke is blue it is frequently a bad cigar. Q. What is the best longshot entered in the Kentucky Derby? A. That would be Bell Buzzer.

SIDELIGHTS: A Los Angeles man divorced his wife after 51 years of marriage. That's the way it goes. A woman never can tell. You better keep on trying hard to please your husband, lady . . . The fighting men of this war are great cigar smokers. Thirty per cent of the cigars produced in this country go to the armed forces. After the last war the cigarette business improved greatly. So cigar men think their business will advance considerably in the post-war period. No doubt it will. But it must be remembered that right after World War I thousands of women who never smoked before began smoking cigarettes. Speaking of smoking cigars and cigarettes brings to mind that the beautiful Lillian Russell enjoyed a good cigar.

FAVORITE SPORT: Marc Platt, a film actor, has been ordered by his employers to stop riding a motorcycle. Riding motorcycles is an old Hollywood sport. Buddy Rogers, a motorcycle enthusiast, often went on long trips with Mary Pickford clinging on behind. When a girl will go motorcycle riding with a man that way that is a certain sign of deep and undying affection.

FIGHT FAN: So the life of Valentino is to be filmed. Should be very interesting and not necessarily entirely deal with the "great lover" angle. Valentino was quite a fight fan and a regular at the bouts held in the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. When excited, Rudolph would yell advice to the fighters in Italian. One night I heard him yell the same thing in Italian about ten times, so I asked him what it meant. He said: "It means hit him in the stomach."

By George Dixon

Say fools for arguments use wagers.'

"When I wagered you this enclosed vast sum of $5 that I would not be a delegate, I certaming was being a bit of a fool so far as the argument went. But I was obeying an old, old technique of mine which is to bet against the thing I really believe will happen, or that I hope will happen—a sort of knocking-wood principle.

"In the end it is a sort of heads-I-win-tails-you-lose proposition, because, when I make a bet like this, if I win, then I haven't lost, but if I lose, I still haven't lost. Obscure? It's almost cabalistic.

"As for you, I suppose you figure that while the race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, that's the way to bet.

"May I take this opportunity of wishing you well with the new Dixon column?

"Sincerely,

"CLARE BOOTHE LUCE."

BEING from Colorado, Sen. Eugene D. Millikin is a great authority on silver. He is also one of the leaders of the Silver Bloc in Congress.

Anyway, Sen. Millikin—a Republican, to keep the record straight—finished a nourishing lunch in the Senate restaurant the other day and then went up to the candy counter. He took a long time choosing among the various confections while the clerk—who had been instructed never to hurry a Senator—stood patiently by.

At last Sen. Millikin selected two candy bars, put down a coin and strode away. The clerk started to cry out after him, but recollected himself, and subsided into anguished mutterings.

The silver expert had left one of those white pennies!

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Army psychiatrists say any soldier who says he does not experience some fear is either a fool or a liar . . . A plain omelette seems to baffle about 92 per cent of American hotel and restaurant cooks. However, this morning I had an omelette that was the work of a real culinary artist . . . Note: It stated that a draft-age major leaguer will play with his team until he is "called." On the next page was a dispatch regarding a man who didn't wait until called. That was 46-year-old Leo Theiser of Syracuse, N. Y., the father of 14 children. Leo has enlisted in the U. S. Navy.

PLEASE NOTE: A projectile with a chemical that produces a temperature of 322 degrees below zero within a radius of 500 yards and thus kills everybody in that area and causes all buildings to collapse. That's what the Germans now claim to have. Maybe they have such a projectile and maybe they haven't. The question arises, if they have it why don't they use it? The answer is that the Germans are afraid to use anything like that because they have an idea the United Nations may have the same thing or something worse.

SAYS HE: "So you say people have to beg at drug stores for stamps," writes a Chicagoan. "I have been a drug clerk for five years and nobody has begged me for a stamp. They demand a three-cent stamp and pay for it with a 20 dollar bill, and if you dare say they are taking a lot of your change they feel insulted."

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 24—Betty Jane Greer, Rudy Vallee's bride, has obtained her freedom from Howard Hughes just by a stroke of the pen and has signed a deal with RKO.

Her first picture is "Having a Wonderful Crime" opposite Pat O'Brien. Apparently the old wheeze "You can catch more flies with molasses than with vinegar" worked in the case of Betty Jane, who filed a suit against Howard and then decided to talk with him and see if she couldn't persuade him to let her go. It worked.

Although under contract to Hughes for over a year, Betty Jane has never made a test. In fact, she has never faced a camera. Howard has his side of the controversy, too. He has been giving all his time to war work and hasn't been making movies for a long time. Even when his new company starts rolling, Preston Sturges will run the show while Howard concentrates on bigger things.

WATCH OUT for Bob Crosby, dark horse coming up on the rail in the swooner-crooner sweepstakes. So far, Bing's younger brother hasn't had the build-up of Bing or Sinatra or acquired the hot following of Dick Haymes. But he's coming along —and Columbia is aiding the good work by handing him two starring opuses as soon as he finishes "Going Western" at "U." The first Columbia story for Bob is "Kansas City Kitty," with Joan Davis and Jane Frazee. The second will be "Meet Miss Bobby Socks," a satire based on the antics of the younger set over a young man whose voice throws them into a tizzie.

NO GIRL in Hollywood has done more camp entertaining than Frances Langford. But actresses also have to act for a living and even a veteran camp darling like Frances has to take time out for her career. She put her name on an RKO contract calling for two pictures a year for the next three years. The first is "The Girl Rush." There's an amusing clause in her contract: no matter what hair dressing style comes in during the next 2 years Frances wears her hair in the good old fashioned "long bob." That's the way the service boys like it.

HARRY COHN says his baby won't be called Harry Cohn, Jr. "I wouldn't start him with such a handicap," says Harry. "I want people to like him. I'm not so sure he will go into movies, either. The Columbia board of directors elected him, but they needed my vote and I said 'no.' He can make up his own mind."

AT DINNER the other evening Sid Grauman started talking about "Turn in the Road," which he bought about 12 years ago after it had taken in $400,000. Sid said he had had several offers for his play, which is by King Vidor, and has a decided spiritual note. He said it had cost $9000 and he and the stockholders felt it was a flop. Then it was put in the Belasco Theater and ran for 22 consecutive weeks. "Now is the time for a play of the type of 'Turn in the Road," said Sid. "It has such a beautiful story. It is not to be confused with John Golden's play, 'Turn to the Right.'"

LUCILLE BALL will probably feel a certain satisfaction when she and her flaming hair become a part of "the Ziegfeld Follies" today. When she walks on the set at M-G-M she will remember she was fired from the Florenz Ziegfeld third road company because the manager said she was "too gawky." She leads the colorful number glorifying the American girl and introducing the stars, and she sings one of the biggest numbers in the revue. More than 3000 pink ostrich tips are used to fashion her costume, and that of Marilyn Maxwell, Lucille Bremer, Elaine Sheperd and the other American beauties.

LILLY DACHE, one of the most La La of the hatters, arrives in town today with whole trunks full of her newest fashion whim. They are gaudily colored nets for the hair that are really something. Come May 2 the VACS are sponsoring a fashion show at Beverly Hills Hotel, where the nets will be modeled.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Lieut. Jay Gould of the Gould family, is spending all his two weeks leave in company with Sheila McLaglen, Victor's daughter; Atty. Robert Ford, who helped handle the Errol Flynn case, goes into the Army as a private; Countess Dorothy Di Frasso back in town, is telephoning all her friends to say she is home from Mexico City. She has rented her house again to Elsa Maxwell and Mrs. Evalyn McLean, who get here early in June; Gregory Ratoff celebrated Mrs. Darryl Zanuck's birthday, his own, and the Sam Goldwyn wedding anniversary with a very nice dinner at his home. It was a happy day for Greg, who had that day received a letter from his sister in Russia, from whom he hadn't heard in a long time. He also found his lost wallet, which had, in his words, "his draftboard in it." Virginia Zanuck left the next day with Darryl for New York. All her friends were at the party, which was really fun. The real Goldwyn anniversary was Saturday and they had a small dinner. Young Sammy, not yet 18, Frances tells me, is expecting and hoping to be called. He enlisted many months ago; Janet Blair celebrated her 23d birthday today; Mrs. Goddard has gone to New York to meet Paulette, who was due Saturday; the good-looking young man lunching with K. T. Stevens at the Brown Derby is Ronald Graham, who was Connie Moore's leading man in "By Jupiter."

Zero Hour Here for Early Planting of Vegetables

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head of Market Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser demonstration garden on Boston Common.)

Time, tide and the planting season wait for no man. Victory gardeners should finish planting their peas, spinach and lettuce now, or else these crops will not be mature around the middle of July.

There is already an accumulation of material beginning to gather around Victory Gardens. Sod, leaves, and straw or grass rakings should be put into a pile and saved for future use. Humus or organic matter is good for New England soil and we should not waste this material. Questions have already been asked as to the value of oak leaves. These leaves can be used in the compost pile with good results. They should be mixed with a little soil and if a small amount of fertilizer is scattered on them they will rot down.

Again the problem of handling sod land is coming up, and many gardeners feel that they must shake it all out. This is a mistake and will only result in poor crops. You may have to work harder for the first few weeks, but the soil will soon rot down and improve your garden soil. Avoid digging into your sod after it has been turned over and you will have little trouble.

Because there has been such a shortage of onions this winter many gardeners feel that they should go into this crop in a big way. While I always have advised growing some onions in the home gardens I feel that it should not be overdone. A few rows to be used for summer and fall will give fine results.

Tar paper discs for cabbage maggot are available at your seedsman and should be placed on plant when it is set.

'Pick-Up Girl' Is Real Hit at Wilbur

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Pick-Up Girl," Elsa Shelley's new play which Michael Todd's office staff of James Colligan, Harry Bloomfield and Harriet Kaplan is presenting at the Wilbur, is as real as the tragedies that are happening all over America today.

It is so arresting, so thought-provoking that it caught Saturday night's firstnighters, lured by the title's provocativeness, unaware and found them tittering self-consciously during sequences that unequivocably put the blame on the parents of this wartime generation's so-called juvenile delinquents.

Miss Shelley's fine play, written with taste, thoughtfulness and a thorough disregard of the obvious, sensitive y, honestly projects the problem of today's teen-age boys and girls whose parents lack the time or the awareness to pilot them through these tempestuous years.

★ ★ ★

Pamela Rivers, making her professional debut as the youngster whose waywardness brings her before Juvenile Court Judge James Harrigan, turns in a performance that gives the play significance and poignancy.

With an amazing grasp of the role's range, she makes you understand her pitiable ignorance, her adolescent yearning for fun and excitement and her pathetically desperate fatalism when tragedy overtakes her.

She gives a beautifully restrained and sincere performance, which keynotes the entire play, and is insistently reminiscent of a young Helen Hayes. Harrigan, although he muffed some sides in the first act, was authoritative in the demanding part of the juvenile court judge.

★ ★ ★

To classify "Pick-Up Girl" as a footlights documentary is to short-change it at the box office unless we assure you frankly, as we do, that it is filched damp out of the headlines and is as factual and attention-getting as a report-card to a doting parent.

Expertly cast and directed by Roy Hargrave, "Pick-Up Girl" is one of the season's more important productions and wartime's most significant dramatizations.

In addton to Miss Rivers' brilliant impersonation in the title role and Harrigan's sympathetic, understanding juvenile court judge, there are f i n e performances throughout, notably by Doro Merande, Kathryn Grill, Toni Favor, Frank Twedell, Marvin Forde Edmonia Nolley and Arthur May berry.

Jane Cowl Joins Mothers' Tribute

NEW YORK, April 24 — Jane Cowl, one of America's favorite stage personalities, has joined the cast of the "Mothers for Victory" broadcast which on Sunday, May 14, will pay nation-wide tribute to the home front heroines who wear both blue and gold stars.

The program, which will be heard over 181 stations of the Blue Network from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. on Mothers' Day under the auspices of the New York Journal-American, will include a dramatic sketch featuring Miss Cowl.

Also participating will be Helen Jepson, Metropolitan Opera star; the "Southernaires," renowned quartet; Wilbur Evans and Josephine Houston, outstanding singing team and many other stars.

Among the mothers who will take part are Mrs. Patsy Gentile, whose son, Capt. Don Gentile is America's ace of aces, and Mrs. Carl Bong, mother of Maj. Richard I. Bong, Marine Corps flier who has shot down 27 Jap planes.

Boston's movie clock appears on page 20.

PLYMOUTH — "LOVERS AND FRIENDS," Dodie Smith's comedy in which actress-manager Katharine Cornell has been starring all this season on Broadway, opens a two-week engagement here with Miss Cornell and a supporting cast including Henry Daniell, Arthur Margetson, Carol Goodner, Anne Burr and Mable Taylor. The plot is concerned with the romance of a British couple, the husband's infatuation for another women and the wife's suggestion that the two live together for six months before she will consent to a divorce. Guthrie McClintic staged production for which Motley designed the settings and costumes.

OPERA HOUSE—"THE MIKADO," with Florenz Ames, Robert Pitkin, Catherine Judah and Kathleen Roche in leading roles, will initiate the Burnside Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company's return engagement here and will be repeated tomorrow night. For the balance of the first week "Trial by Jury" and "Pinafore" will be given Wednesday afternoon and evening and Thursday evening; "Cox and Box" and "The Pirates of Penzance," Friday evening and Saturday matinee and evening.

Continuing

COLONIAL — "A CONNECTICUT YANKEE," a new musical adaptation of the famous Mark Twain story with modernized book by Herbert Fields and many new songs by Richard Rodgers and the late Lorenz Hart, tonight opens its second week here. Vivienne Segal and Hollywood's Dick Foran have the leading roles.

SHUBERT — "DREAM WITH MUSIC," Richard Kollmar's new musical starring Vera Zorina, Ronald Graham and June Knight, begins its second week tonight. Story is concerned with a girl, tired of writing successful soap operas for the radio, who falls asleep and dreams she is Scheherazade. The book is by Broadway columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, Sidney Sheldon and Ben Roberts.

WILBUR — "PICK-UP GIRL," the new play by Elsa Shelley which the Michael Todd office is presenting, will be here for two weeks. Roy Hargrave, actor-author-director seen here in "Men in Shadow," has staged and lighted the production. Heading cast are William Harrigan, Pamela Rivers, Toni Favor, Dore Merande, Lili Valenty, Kathryn Grill, Edmonia Nolley, Zachary A Charles, Marvin Forde, Morty Martell and William Foran.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday—Friday I had the great pleasure of having some very old friends lunch with me. They were Mrs. Edward Macauley and Mrs. Frank Polk, and in addition, Mrs. Richard Bissell, the new director of volunteers for the Red Cross, who has just returned from a long trip throughout the country, and Mrs. Robert Magidoff, the Russian wife of the American NBC correspondent in Moscow.

Mrs. Magidoff has been all over our country speaking for Russian war relief. She has addressed small audiences and big audiences, labor audiences, Rotary clubs, groups of young people and women's clubs.

MRS. MAGIDOFF was very interesting in her observations on the difference between the psychology of the Russian mother and our own mothers in their attitude on the war. She recognized the fact that having a war on your own territory clarified many things which are difficult for us to understand.

She stressed one point that I think interesting. She said that Russians are taught, from school days on, that their own interests as individuals are not of paramount importance, but that their neighbors must be considered. This has an effect on the manners and customs.

★ ★ ★

ON SATURDAY I gave a luncheon for the Prime Minister of New Zealand and Mrs. Fraser. It was a great pleasure to see them again. They were so kind to me when I was in New Zealand, and Mrs. Fraser travelled with me practically all the time I was there.

At 6:15 I broadcasted for the Anglo-American Caribbean commission and in the evening I went out to the Washington Sanitarium to speak to the Nurses' alumni association.

Plans Rectory Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I am a Catholic, and since my fiance is not, we will be married in the Rectory. I have always wanted to wear a white wedding dress and veil, but since I suppose this isn't possible under these circumstances, isn't there something more feminine I can wear than a suit?

M. A.

Have you talked with your priest about this? I am sure that you will find that you may wear a white wedding dress and veil to your Rectory wedding. But if you mean that some other circumstance makes this attire inadvisable, you still needn't wear a suit; a smart afternoon dress or ensemble with a small, harmonizing hat, and a bright-looking corsage would be charmingly appropriate.

Removes Hair Safely

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

LET US FACE the decreed bare facts. Clothes will have that "nude" look this summer . . . with little or no sleeves to hide your arms. Swim suits will be the most abbreviated in feminine history . . . the smartest of them sporting one bare shoulder, at least. Playsuits will be nothing more than a drawstring halter and baby pants.

And, naturally, legs will be stockingless. But, if you're going to wave bare arms around . . . and, balance yourself on a pair of stunning, hoseless limbs . . . remember, every last errant strand of hair must be removed.

There is an amazing new cream cosmetic depilatory . . . made by a new type of formula . . . innocent of objectionable chemical odors . . . that is one of the nicest and most feminine ways of removing hair. You'll find it is pleasantly scented . . . as well as softly spreadable in texture . . . as it removes hirsute superfluity painless, swiftly and safely.

It is a snow-white "unsmelly" cream that leaves no ugly stubble . . . that leaves no scars of battle, no dangerous cuts and nicks on your skin . . . so often caused by the hazardous razor. A spreading stick comes with the large tube . . . priced at only one dollar.

ONLY 6 TO 15 MINUTES

If you've been in the habit of shaving your legs . . . and worried because the hair growth has come in thicker and faster . . . that is because the razor cuts the hair off at an angle above the hair line. But, this cream hair remover disintegrates the hair stalk down into the pore below the skin "level" thereby doing a flawless job. And, the entire procedure takes only six to fifteen minutes.

Simply spread the cream over the skin evenly so that the hair is completely covered . . . say about one-sixth of an inch thick. Do NOT rub the cream in . . . but allow it to remain on from six to fifteen minutes . . . depending upon the growth of superfluous hair you desire to remove. Then, wash or wipe the cream away with a damp cloth . . . and watch the magical removal of hair . . . and how smooth and clean your skin becomes.

For the name of this new cream hair-remover, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE SWEET WAY TO keep feminine . . . the odorless and painless way to remove superfluous hair . . . is a new cream cosmetic depilatory . . . which can be used on the arms, under the arms, on the upper lip . . . and especially on the legs . . . for a sleek pair of hair-free gams comparable to the lovely limbs of Constance Dowling, a Samuel Goldwyn screen star.

Aid for Wounded Soldiers

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: Can you name some of the manual arts and skills which soldiers learn in the occupational therapy shops in Army hospitals?

SOLDIERS MOTHER.

Manual arts and skills include weaving, carpentry, leather work, cord knotting, pottery making, wood carving, typing, use of printing press, and also playing games, such as checkers on a specially designed set, using hand tools, learning to write, or developing any fine, small skills. These methods have been evolved for men who've lost hands or arms so they may use the remaining hand or arm as well as the artificial one.

Serve Braised Pork Hocks

By MARTHA LEE

LIKE MOST MEN, Dad's favorite food is meat, and many of his favorite cuts are in the no-point, low-point class.

To specially please the man in your house, serve braised pork hocks with potatoes and carrots, minted peas, a bowl of tossed green salad, hot corn muffins, and applesauce pie.

These tested recipes will help prepare the meat in top-toasting style:

BRAISED PORK HOCKS AND VEGETABLES

6 fresh pork hocks
2 tbsp. fat
Salt and pepper
6 medium carrots, cut in strips
6 medium potatoes, cut fourths

Have skin removed from pork hocks. Brown in hot fat, season with salt and pepper, and add a small amount of water. Cover and cook slowly until pork is well done, or about two hours. Add more water as needed. An hour before the end of the cooking period, add carrots and potatoes. When tender, remove bone from pork hocks and stuff carrot strips in place of bone. Makes 6 servings.

CORN MUFFINS

1-3 cup lard
1-3 cup sugar
1 beaten egg
1⅓ cups milk
1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. baking powder
1 cup corn meal

Cream lard and sugar; add egg and milk. Add flour sifted with salt and baking powder. Add corn meal, stirring only enough to mix. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake in 425 deg. F. oven for 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen muffins.

APPLESAUCE PIE

Plain pastry
1 cup unsweetened applesauce
Sugar
⅓ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon or nutmeg
2 tbsp. margarine or butter
2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups milk
Rind 1 lemon, finely chopped

Sweeten applesauce to taste. Add salt, nutmeg and margarine or butter. Make custard mixture with eggs, milk and lemon rind. Mix with applesauce. Turn into pastry-lined pie plate and arrange lattice of pastry strips over top. Bake in 450 deg. F. oven for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 350 deg. F. and bake 40 to 50 minutes longer.

PLAIN PASTRY

2-3 cup lard
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
3 to 5 tbsp. water

Cut lard into sifted flour and salt until mixture is size of small peas. Add gradually enough water to form a stiff dough. Turn onto lightly floured board and knead twice to blend thoroughly. Chill if desired before rolling out. Makes two 9-inch crusts.

MINTED PEAS

Shell peas. Into a saucepan containing a small amount of boiling salted water drop the peas. Add some sprigs of mint (1 sprig for each cup of peas). Cover and boil rapidly 10 to 20 minutes or until tender. When the peas are tender remove mint. There should be only enough liquid left in the saucepan to serve with the peas. Add some butter, seasonings and chopped parsley, return to stove and simmer over low heat 2 minutes. Add cream if desired.

Berets Lead Spring Parade

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IF YOU want to know what the biggest single millinery style is this spring, it's the beret. More girls and women, too, are wearing berets than any other kind of hat.

And its the most timely style, too. At least, it is the way John-Frederics see it. These boys have a very special beret, which they say is one of their best sellers, and they call it "A Head of Time."

Miss Dulin has sketched this beret, which is literally what its name says. It is made of vivid red felt, and the hands and numerals of the clock face are embroidered around it in gold thread, making a very pretty trimming as well as something timely. The beret is the fat kind that is known as the "bumper" this season.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, April 24—Is Lillian Bond, recently divorced from Sydney Smith, contemplating another trip to the altar—but soon? . . . Do you know that Luise Rainer rushed to an upstate health farm to recuperate from her overseas trip, during which she entertained the boys on the fighting fronts? . . . Aren't Veronica Lake and Paramont blowing up quite a tempest with their tiffs? . . . Does Shirley Temple adore Dare Harris? . . . Will it be long before New York's Mayor LaGuardia makes a dramatic announcement about his switch of allegiance to another political party? . . . Is Ruth Gordon, successful author of "Over 21," halfway through another play destined for Broadway? . . . Is it true that Joan Barry received two offers to headline on stage show circuits in movie theaters all over the country—but that the Hays office and Hollywood squelched the deal pronto?

★ ★ ★

WHO GIFTED Choo Choo Johnson with those ruby and diamond earrings? . . . Is Kate Smith about to close a big movie deal? . . . Is it true that chambermaids at Washington hotels now earn more than some government workers? . . . Did you hear about "Stutterin' Sam" Dowell flying home to get married, and being put off the plane at El Paso? . . . Anything to the report that Hal Wallis will take over the Myron Selznick agency? . . . Is Irving Berlin planning to give Lena Horne top billing in his new musical? . . . Why did Ethel Barrymore tell the boys from the gazettes that she didn't like Gene Fowler's biog of John? . . . Isn't the Army about to step in on television via censorship? . . . Why won't Judge Landis forget that Bing Crosby owns a few nags and let him buy that major league baseball club? . . . What well known prince (socially, anyhow) has been barred from New York inns for non-payment of bills? . . . Won't entertainment in the Borscht Circuit be killed this summer by the 30 per cent tax? . . . Do you know that when Betty Lawford returns to town Billie Burke will have to find an apartment fast, because she's been billeted at Betty's place these past weeks?

★ ★ ★

HAS PAUL SMALL signed Marion Hutton for his new vaude show? . . . Is Billie Boze smitten with Larry Douglas, the singer, and vice versa? . . . Do you know that Steve Cibik, the Marine who had a battle named after him (the Battle of Cibik's Ridge, Bougainville) was in town recently? . . . Doesn't Gary Cooper's new contract with Bill Goetz call for a picture a year for International? . . . Won't the William Morris office sign Benny Goodman to a screen actor's contract as soon as his orchestra is disbanded in order to beat the MCA contract with the King of Swing? . . . Is Messmore Kendall planning to become an active "angel" on Broadway next season? . . . What's keeping Yvette in California—the weather, or that band leader?

★ ★ ★

DO YOU KNOW that Walter Reade, the theater owner, was the biggest winner of the Florida race track season? . . . Isn't Victor Jory, the sinister villain of "The Two Mrs. Carrolls," much funnier on a night club floor than most of the gents who do that sort of thing for a living? . . . Have you noticed that Elaine Barrie Barrymore is concentrating on her new radio career and shunning the publicity that might bring up her hectic past? . . . Do you know that Joy Hodges has surprised everyone by her ability as a comedienne in the touring "Something For The Boys?" . . . Aren't the captains and headwaiters at the Jamaica track clubhouse making more moolah than the bettors? . . . Did you hear about the belle who left her shoes at a night club and came back later that morning demanding either the shoes or a ration ticket?

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, April 24—Rita Hayworth or "The Reet," as her friends call her, actually had the red carpet spread out for her while she was making "Cover Girl."

Stanley Dunn, the property man who adores her, would see to it that a scarlet Axminster was on the floor from her portable dressing room to that section of the sound stage where the picture was being filmed.

Rita Hayworth

The Reet's real name is Margarite Carmen Cansino, which is too much for a theater marquee. She took her mother's maiden name, Hayworth, and shortened her own first name.

She is five feet five inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, has brown eyes and black hair. She probably has the longest fingernails of any actress, but seldom wears red polish.

She made her dancing debut when she was six in her father's act. Her father is Eduardo Cansino, a third generation star of a famous dancing family. When she was 14, she danced in the stage prologue to "Back Street," the Irene Dunne-John Boles picture, at the Carthay Circle. She wasn't discovered for pictures here.

★ ★ ★

RITA WAS dancing at Agua Caliente when she was seen by a Fox executive and persuaded to come to Hollywood to play a dancer in "Dante's Inferno." The star of that picture was Spencer Tracy. They were both let go by Fox shortly after that picture.

She was then signed by Columbia who first used her, unbilled, in a "Blondie" picture. They wanted audiences to discover her. This was a smart move, for the boys in the audience liked her and said so.

She generally wears white evening gowns, but otherwise prefers vivid colors like red and green.

She seldom uses powder on her face. The only make-up she uses is a little lipstick and eye shadow. She goes in for soap and water more than anything else. She likes sun bathing and suntans easily—all over.

She likes to go to the movies. Here she studies other actresses and actors. When she isn't working, she goes to the movies often. She holds hands at the movies.

★ ★ ★

SHE OFTEN visits the Hollywood Canteen, and it goes without saying that The Reet is a big favorite with the soldiers. She has made several camp tours. She met Phil Silvers at an Army camp and while they were before the mike, Phil gagged, "I think I'll ask for you in one of my pictures, sometime." When Silvers came to work in "Cover Girl," she greeted him with, "I see that you did it."

She usually wears an eye shade when she sleeps. She believes in getting plenty of sleep, and that's her only beauty secret.

She loves dolls and plenty of sweets and confession stories.

She likes the idea of being known as a glamour girl. "After all," says The Reet, "a girl is—well, a girl. It's nice to be told you're successful at it."

Boston After Dark

THE ROMANCE OF THE THEATER—In the Horatio Alger theme of rags to riches—possibly never will be exemplified more vividly than the case of "Pick-Up Girl," which our confreres among critics are hailing as a hit . . . This new opus opened Saturday night in Boston—its first time on any stage . . . The "inside" story of "Pick-Up Girl" is a fantastic happy - ending story that the theater tells occasionally—only occasionally . . . In fact, not since Anne Nichols brought to Broadway a lightly-regarded piece called "Abie's Irish Rose" has the theater told such a tale of its own.

★ ★ ★

CONSIDER, FIRST, the author of "Pick-Up Girl," a lady whose theatrical name has been, for many years, "Elsa Shelley" . . . Miss Shelley is an old fond acquaintance of this department, who really knew her "when" and knew her well . . . Admiration for the Miss Shelley began back in the early twenties . . . A sincere and lovable kid from an artistically-bent New York middle-class home, Miss Shelley had the great simplicity and courage to brave the Broadway of that day as an actress under the name of Bertha Broad, and if that isn't the least glamorous name ever used by a Broadway player of either sex we will insist upon it being our nominee until a less homely nom de theater comes along.

★ ★ ★

AND AS "BERTHA BROAD" the author of the new million-dollar hit "Pick-up Girl" appeared in more than one play, including an appearance as "Juliet" opposite (we think) Walter Hampden . . . Then she married a struggling young playwright named Irving Kaye Davis . . . "Struggling" is a moderate description of Irving . . . Between plays—which he wrote faster than Owen Davis—Irving worked as a Broadway press-agent, when he could find a job . . . But Irving needs a whole column for his story.

★ ★ ★

LET US TOUCH lightly on it . . . Irving Kaye Davis has written at least 80 plays . . . Only one of them has been produced . . . That was a one-character play named "Courtesan" and the star was—Elsa Shelley, nee Bertha Broad . . . As a matter of fact, Miss Broad changed her name only after despairing protests on the part of her spouse that it was a handicap . . . The new glamorous name did not seem quite honest . . . The years have passed (nearly twenty of them) since the Irving Kaye Davises joined fortunes . . . They have been lean years . . . Irving has continued to write plays . . . He would sell them for "option" money and wait hopefully for a production . . . Then he would sell the play, or plays, again for more "option" money . . . Seven years ago, Elsa Shelley (Davis) was stricken with a serious illness . . . Those seven years were made livable only because of the couple's mutual devotion . . . But it was a period of real grief.

★ ★ ★

SOME MONTHS AGO, Miss Shelley decided to try to write a play herself . . . "Pick-up Girl" the result . . . It began making the Broadway rounds this winter . . . Michael Todd was in California . . . One day, Joe Schenck, the movie tycoon, told Mike that his New York scouts had tipped him to a play which would make a fine movie . . . Mike got busy . . . He telephoned his company manager, Harry Bloomfield, to get a line on the play . . . "I don't have to get a line on it," said Harry. "We like it . . . Harriet Kaplan read it, and our office has first refusal on it . . . The play right now is on your desk, here in New York . . ." . . . But Mike was tabbed for the Navy . . . "I'll give you ten thousand dollars to produce it," said the fabulous Mike . . . "Who—me?" asked the dumbfounded Mr. Bloomfield . . . "Yes, you . . . And Ed Culligan and Harriet—all of you," said Mike. "You can be partners."

★ ★ ★

BUT MR. BLOOMFIELD recovered sufficiently to tell Mike that he would need $20,000, instead of $10,000 . . . Mike said okay to that sum, too . . . And the play was produced . . . Mr. Todd is a minority stockholder . . . The majority owners are his office staff—Culligan, his comptroller; Miss Kaplan, his play-reader, and Bloomfield, his Fides Achates . . . They will make a million . . . Miss Shelley and Irving Kay Davis will make more than that . . . In fact, we are being conservative.

Night Baseball Will Aid Red Sox to Survive War

By JACK CONWAY

THE APPLICATION of Tom Yawkey for permission from the War Manpower Commission to install lights at Fenway Park has met with the approval of the fans, and they hope the government authorities will grant the request of the Red Sox owner.

Without night baseball, Boston has been out of step with the remainder of the country. There are thousands of people who are able to attend ball games at night who could not do so during the day time.

Tom Yawkey

In the lush days of baseball, Yawkey was in a position to humor the wishes of some of his temperamental stars who did not favor night baseball. They declared they could not hit as well under the lights as they could when playing during the day.

The turnstiles were clicking merrily during that period, and Yawkey stood out against night baseball. The players who opposed night baseball are now out of active baseball service, and the new group of players are satisfied to do what they can to help put baseball on a paying basis.

Most of the younger players have been brought up with night baseball in the minors, and are not bothered a great deal by the lights.

The pitchers have an advantage over the batters with night baseball. Otherwise the game is much the same as when played during the day.

The Braves had hoped to share the cost of a lighting plant with the Red Sox and then move into Fenway Park. Yawkey, however, has not shown any indications of changing his policy which has been to keep Fenway Park exclusively for the Red Sox other than for what non-baseball promotions may go into the baseball orchard.

The cost of a lighting plant is about $125,000. Yawkey has frequently paid that much money for a single ball player. He can write off the cost of his plant over a period of five years. It will pay for itself many times over.

Last season Yawkey did not consider night baseball as there were dimouts in this area. Now that the lights are on again it is possible to have night baseball.

Lights for Football

THE FENWAY PARK lights could also be used for the professional football games which are coming to this city. The Yanks will play Sunday professional football, but it is known that the National Football League would like to play mid-week night games. These would be successful in Boston if staged in the early part of the Fall. The weather late in November would be too cold for night football.

Baseball is today a week-end and Wednesday afternoon affair as far as the public is concerned. The games played on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday only draw small crowds. Night baseball will change this. This will be especially true in the post war period when there will be thousands of young people looking for entertainment.

Hard Road Ahead

BASEBALL HAS a hard road ahead, and it needs all of the help it can get from night baseball. If the war lasts for two more years, the national pastime will be at a very low ebb by that time if it is able to survive. When peace comes, it will take two years at least to build baseball back to its pre-war status. This means it will be four years, and possibly longer, before the national pastime reaches the heights again.

Night baseball will assist the Sox and other clubs in keeping going until there are better days for the sport.

B's, Despite Losses, Seen Improved Club

By BILL GRIMES

During the opening week of the 1944 National League season, the Braves spotted their immediate predecessors three victories. To be more explicit, they came up with only one win in six starts, while the 1943 Braves took the decisions in four of their first half dozen engagements.

But, despite the dismal start, Bob Coleman's charges are a better aggregation of ball players than those who wore Braves' uniform last season.

For the most part, Bob Coleman's hirelings are sophomores and freshmen in the N. L. It will be the sophomores who'll take the acid test this year. Last year's freshmen, such as "Whitey" Wietelmann, Connie Ryan, "Chuck" Workman, "Butch" Nieman, "Red" Barrett and Nate Andrews didn't register as Phi Beta Kappa prospects. For the most part, they were very fortunate to receive passable grades but they were allowed to stay with their class. However, they have new instructors this year and may be able to correct the weaknesses which kept them on the border line while they were freshmen.

ONLY TWO FRESHMEN

The current Braves have two freshmen in their regular lineup, "Buck" Etchison and Steve Shemo. Potentially, Etchison is a powerful and consistant hitter but, although improving daily, isn't the greatest defensive first sacker in the league. Shemo has few peers as a fielder but, he's been a victim of "buck fever" at the plate. They'll both improve under Coleman.

"Whitey" Wietelmann and Connie Ryan have been, up to date, vastly better than they were last season. Wietelmann would be the best shortstop in the N. L. if he could control his temper. He burns himself out by "blowing his top" when he thinks the umpires miss calling them right when he's at bat. Ryan is cashing in at the bat because he was smart enough to put into operation a couple of hints given him by Bob Coleman. At times last year, Ryan seemed to be in a fog but he has been playing heads up and hustling baseball this spring. His work at third base has been the best the Braves have had in years.

In Max Macon, Ben Geraghty, Dee Phillips and Roland Gladu, the Braves have more than their share of excellent infield replacements.

Tommy Holmes is a fixture in center field and with Chet Ross and Chet Clemens available, Manager Coleman can bench "Chuck" Workman and "Butch" Nieman when the opposition assign left-hand pitchers to the hilltop without materially weakening his club either offensively or defensively.

STRONG PITCHING STAFF

With all due respect to the rest of the club, it will be the pitchers that will bring the Braves through to a first division spot. Al Javery, Jim Tobin, Nate Andrews and "Red" Barrett, who were the starting hurlers last season, are all back. True, Tobin is the only winner up to date and his one-hitter yesterday against the Phillies was a masterpiece.

Ira Hutchinson, Carl Lindquist, George Woodend, Billy Marshall, Ben Cardoni and Hal Schacker, and and in a pinch, Max Macon are all a decided improvement over the aggregation of alleged "chuckers," who were behind Javery, Tobin, Andrews and Barrett a year ago.

The Braves have an off day but they will be back in action tomorrow against the Brooklyn Dodgers for a three-game series before starting on a trip to Philadelphia and Brooklyn Thursday night.

Sox-A's Off

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—The Red Sox-Athletics doubleheader scheduled for yesterday was called off because of rain.

Despite the fact that two games have been lost in this series, no attempt was made to play one off today. The Red Sox left last night for Washington where they open a three-game series tomorrow.

The Boston club returns home Friday to tangle with the Mackmen at Fenway Park during the coming week-end.

GBI Loop Steps Into Torrid Title Fight

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy baseball, moving into high gear this week, will be welcoming the opening of the Greater Boston Interscholastic League Wednesday afternoon as the bidding for berths in the annual Eastern State championships swings into a more serious vein.

There are plenty of school nines which have already given notice of their calibre although the season is less than two weeks old . . . Coach Clem McCann's B. C. High team has downed a pair of formidable foes in the Boston conference play . . . St. Clement's of Somerville has jumped off to a two-game lead in its Catholic League competition . . . Cambridge Latin got off to a flying start in the Suburban circuit . . . but there is still plenty of time for the others to step to the front.

GBI LOOP OUT

The GBI loop, through an extended mix-up last season, failed to qualify a team for the championship play-offs . . . three clubs, Medford, Somerville and Everett, wound up in a deadlock for the crown but league officials just couldn't get together to nominate a contender with the result that the league failed entirely to have a representative . . . with Everett stripped of all but one veteran, Conrad Pennsavalle, it looks as though the title may whittle down to a two-way battle between Somerville and Medford.

Medford, evidently powerful from its showing against Arlington in its first game of the season, will travel to Malden Wednesday to meet Coach Art Melanson's Golden Tornado nine in its first league start . . . the Mustangs will probably have Joe Puccio, winner over Arlington, on the mound . . . Coach Art Tirrell intended to have Dana MacNeil try out his sore arm against Winchester this afternoon.

VETERAN BATTERY

Somerville, opening against Revere, will be calling on its veteran battery of Charlie Osgood and Charlie Shea . . . Coach Barney Curtin, in spite of the fact that he has lost a nifty southpaw in Tom Hickey to the armed forces, still has a nifty outfit to try to duplicate the recent record of the basketball team . . . In the only other league game, Coach Walter Foye of Lowell will probably pitch Roland Roy against Chelsea.

BC Squad Facing Contact

The Boston College Informal Football team is in for its first contact session of spring practice this afternoon at Alumni Field. Coach Moody Sarno expects to segregate the candidates into linemen and backfield hopefuls in order to get across the individual assignments as soon as possible. The Eagles only engaged in warmup and blackboard practices Thursday and Friday of last week, but this afternoon's session promises to make the strength and weaknesses at the various positions more apparent.

The most glaring lack which the Eagles must face is the absence of any successor to Ed Doherty and Charlie McCoy in the quarterback position. Jack Coady, fullback on last year's team, filled in that position in Thursday's signal drill, but he is not considered a serious candidate for the post as he awaits an Annapolis call sometime in May.

Coach Sarno hopes that his small squad of 25 will be augmented by players who were unable to make the previous session due to late laboratory classes. This may well handicap the Eagles next fall, yet Sarno declares that the team which tied Harvard last year only averaged 40 minutes a day of practice.

Rehearsal "handy" means... "Off key!"

3-Ring "handy" means... "Time for BALLANTINE!"

Before the ancients spoke their first words, they "talked" with their hands. And the "handy" does duty to this very day. Card player's "handy" says "Pass." Radio "handy" says "Half a minute to go." 3-Ring "handy" says "Ballantine Ale for me"... "something better" in a moderate beverage... America's finest since 1840. That's the year Peter Ballantine, testing for PURITY, BODY and FLAVOR, found his famous trade mark in the three moisture rings left by his glass on the table.

Navy Keeps Tufts Four From Running at Penn

By HUCK FINNEGAN

WHEN EDDIE DUGGER and Walter Hall were winning hurdles championships for Tufts, back in 1940, Coach Dinger Dussault made hurdlers overnight out of quarter-milers Valente and Brainard and won the shuttle relays at Penn in a walk. We recall the Philadelphia Enquirer's report: "Dugger, Tufts anchor man, would have carried a bucket of water in each hand and waltzed home in front."

And so when the summary of the Tufts-Andover meet carried the line: "220-yard low hurdles—Won by Palmieri, Tufts," it looked as if Dussault were ready to spring another coup on his collegiate brethern at Penn this week-end. Because Palmieri, a pre-med student, was a member of the one-mile relay which brought the IC4-A title to Tufts last month and never had hurdled in his life.

"No," laughed Dussault. "I wish it were true but it isn't. You see I lost Sparrow (IC4-A champ) Lennon and Nelson in March and haven't any hurdlers left. I'm entering Palmieri in the 440-yard lows only because the Navy won't let my relay travel to Penn for the week-end. Palmieri, a civilian, is the only athlete I can take."

That is a pity because Tufts still has Southwick, Kennedy and Palmieri of its championship quartet and Walter Bannon has developed so fast as a replacement for Harry Drake that Tufts looked like a sure winner at Penn.

★ ★ ★

Watch Blanchard

"They'd do between 3:21 and 3:22," said Dussault ruefully. "That isn't the only blow," he continued. "I have a 19-year-old V-12 named Duncan Blanchard who, from what I've seen, would cop the two-mile in a walk. He graduated from Pittsfield High last June and was at Harvard a few months before being transferred to the Hillside. He's got endurance galore but needs speed work. I entered him in the 880 and mile at Andover and he won both. I'll wager that he can do 9:25 this minute, and though he can't prove it at Penn, keep your eye on him on the Greater Boston intercollegiates at Harvard on May 6. He's the best I've seen in college ranks since we lost Ted Vogel."

Thus Tufts, instead of cleaning up the mile relay title and being dangerous contenders in the two-mile and four-mile relays will send only civilian Palmieri to Penn, and has him running the hurdles. Ordinarily we'd say he has little chance to place in such gruelling competition as the 440-yard hurdles provides since he will have had only six days of practice before the meet, but remembering the remarkable job Dussault did with Dugger (13.9 in national collegiates), Hall, Sparrow, and Lennon, not to mention Valente and Brainard, it will come as no surprise if Palmieri wins the event.

McKenley 49 Flat

For the first time in modern history, the IC4-A championships will be a single day event—May 20 at Penn. Imagine dashmen and hurdlers running qualifying heats in the morning, semi-finals and finals in the afternoon . . . Navy travel orders again . . . The New England intercollegiate also will be a one-day affair—May 13 at Tech . . . Gil Dodds will run a special handicap mile at Russell Field on May 10, in connection with a quadrangular high school meet . . . It's hard to believe, but Herb McKenley beat Dodds by 15 yards in a 440 last week at B. C. McKenley's time was 49 flat, Dodds 53.2 McKenley loks like the fastest thing in the country outdoors. He did 47.7 in winning the national junior 400-meter title last June . . . B. C.'s Ralph King, who placed third in the IC4-A dash final indoors, reported for spring football practice at B. C., but Jack Ryder had him beck in a truck suit in a hurry. Immediately the former Rindge flier ripped off a 32 second 300. Not many collegians can touch that . . . "I hope to play football in the fall," said the former Rindge Tech end. Over Ryder's dead body.

He will also introduce Jack Sharkey, who recently returned from a trip overseas, and Paul Bowser, who will give sports talks.

Jack Conway's column of sports appears every day in the Boston American.

Browns, Cards Still Unbeaten

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Both the Browns and the Cardinals of St. Louis are at this moment hotter than a July day in the Mound City. Luke Sewell's merry men continued their victory parade by capturing both ends of a double header from the Chicago White Sox, 5-2 and 4-3, for their fifth and sixth straight without a loss.

The Cardinals also remain unbeaten, after walloping the Chicago Cubs twice, 11-3 and 5-4, for a record of five wins without a defeat.

Jack Kramer, youthful hurler, making a comeback attempt with the Browns, became the first pitcher in the American League to gain two victories, by limiting the White Sox to eight hits in the first game. Kramer also hit a home run with a man on base to account for two runs. George Caster, veteran relief artist, received credit for the second victory.

Skating Vanities Boost Vets' Fund

Having attracted more than 100,000 enthusiasts to the Garden during its week's stay to shatter all attendance records in the two-year history of the Skating Vanities, the colorful roller spectacle moved to Providence today to open a one-week stay at the Garden.

The show closed with great crowds yesterday afternoon and evening. Particularly gratifying was the matinee turnout, which was for the American-Record Hospitalized War Veterans Fund.
